Fungarium

Ester Gaya & Katie Scott

Welcome to the Fungarium! Step into the world of fungi and learn all about these strange and fascinating life forms.

Illustrator Katie Scott returns to the Welcome to the Museum series with exquisite, detailed images of some of the most fascinating living organisms on this planet - fungi. From the fungi we see on supermarket shelves to fungi like penicillium that have shaped human history, this is the definitive introduction to what fungi are and just how vital they are to the world's ecosystem. Created in collaboration with the Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew.

Ester Gaya is a senior research leader at Kew. She began her career in mycology in Spain and after some time in the USA decided to settle in the UK. She has spent the past 20 years researching fungi. She is especially fascinated by lichens and tries to understand their evolution.

Katie Scott graduated from University of Brighton in 2011. Her work draws influences from traditional medical and botanical illustration, both in aesthetic and subject matter. Her work plays with the ideas of scientific uncertainty and speculation, fabricating the inner and outer workings of the world. Her illustrations depict a familiar yet fantasy vision of plants, humans and minerals.

Meet the Ancient Greeks Meet the Pirates

James Davies

With vibrant, playful artwork and snappy text, learning about ancient history has never been cooler.

Two new flexiback editions in the successful Meet the... series. There's so much to digest when it comes to history – how do you know where to start? These short introductions are just the thing for beginners. Get to know the basics on Ancient Greece, from religious ceremonies to day to day life, and Pirates, from famous looters to scurvy. These books contain easy-to-digest, humorous text that is reminiscent of the bestselling Horrible Histories series.

James Davies is an illustrator and author from Wales, now living in Bristol. He has recently returned to illustration with a uniquely bold graphic style, influenced by old cartoons and retro picture books, and is the author and illustrator of the bestselling Meet the... series. His first picture book, Long Dog, was published in 2018. James's favourite food group is carbs and his worst enemy is a bald chihuahua.

With specially written text for younger readers, step inside the museum to explore the incredible human body.

Welcome to Anatomicum. This museum is open all hours and will take you on an incredible journey right around the human body, from the intricate workings of the brain to the tiny muscles used to show emotion. Have you ever wondered how each life starts with just one cell, or how many blood cells there are in your body? Then this is the book for you.

Anatomicum Junior is a reduced-age-range follow-on from the original Anatomicum. The text has been carefully simplified to make it appealing to younger readers, while retaining the dynamic style and fascinating information of the original.

Jennifer Z Paxton is Lecturer in Anatomy at the University of Edinburgh and Principal Investigator of the Paxton Lab, a tissue engineering laboratory. Jennifer has won the Wellcome Trust 'I'm a Scientist' competition twice (2013, 2018). She loves bringing the science of anatomy to a wider audience and working with primary schools to engage more children with the subject.

Katy Wiedemann is an illustrator and tattoo artist in Philadelphia, USA. Her work explores the field of scientific illustration, particularly that of anatomy. Working in ink and watercolour, Katy uses traditional techniques to blend realism and scientific understanding. She is a graduate of the Rhode Island School of Design, and has an MA in Illustration from Edinburgh College of Art.

Pub price: £9.99

Genre: Non-fiction
Format: Paperback
H x W: 300 x 235mm
Extent: 64pp

The world's oceans are brought to life in art made from hand-pressed seaweed and coastal flowers.

Artist Helen Ahpornsiri transforms silky seaweeds, feathery algae and bright coastal blooms into playful penguins, scuttling crabs and schools of silvery sharks. Turn the page to explore each corner of the oceans, from hidden rock pools to the darkest depths. Marvel as plants transform into marvellous creatures, and discover the magic and beauty that lies beneath the waves...

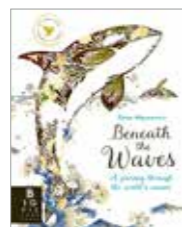

Lily Murray grew up in the wilds of snowy nowhere, spending much of her time talking to animals and making up stories. She has continued to do this in her adult life, and now writes both fiction and non-fiction books for children. Her titles include big books about dinosaurs, rhyming books about dinosaurs and stories about escapee hot dogs. Her books for STUDIO PRESS include the bestselling No Worries and the Disney Animated Classics series. Follow Lily on Instagram and Twitter @lilymurraybooks

Helen Ahpornsiri creates intricate collages using real flora and foliage. Each illustration is made up of hundreds of leaves and flowers which are foraged or grown, then preserved with traditional flower-pressing methods. The plants are organised by species or colour before being cut and delicately arranged to form birds, insects and other creatures, all filled with tiny patterns and tangles of plant life. Helen lives in Eastbourne, Sussex, in the UK.

Extent: 80pp

A fascinating countdown of the technologies, innovations and stories that led humans from the hot air balloon to walking on the Moon. Winner of a British Book Design & Production Award, 2019.

Long before anyone had designed a rocket, the Montgolfier brothers were making hot air balloons. In October 1783, they became the first people to experience controlled flight. Balloon to the Moon starts there and leads to Neil Armstrong's 'small step' and beyond. But why stop there?

Learn about the great innovations of the past, and then get ready for BLAST OFF into an unknown but exciting future.

Gill Arbuthnott lives in Edinburgh and has been a published author since 2003. She writes fiction and non-fiction and reckons that being a children's author is probably the best job in the world. Her books Dark Spell, Beneath and What Makes You You? have been shortlisted for major UK book awards. A former science teacher, she loves mixing scientific fact with wonderful anecdotes of people and places.

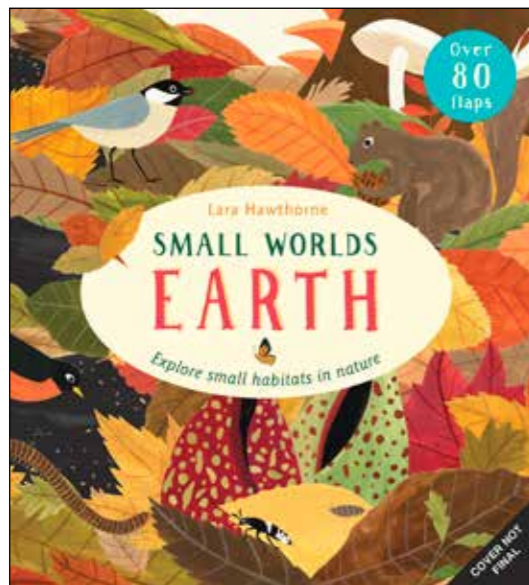

Chris Nielsen is an award-winning Sydney-based illustrator. His work flows from a love of vintage design. Tin toys, Mexican wrestlers, matchboxes, medical charts and Indian goddesses all jostle for attention among the flotsam and jetsam in his flip-top head.

Small Worlds: Earth

Lara Hawthorne & Camilla de la Bedoyere

Small Worlds: Water

Lara Hawthorne & Lily Murray

This beautifully illustrated lift-the-flap series lets children explore small worlds in nature close-up.

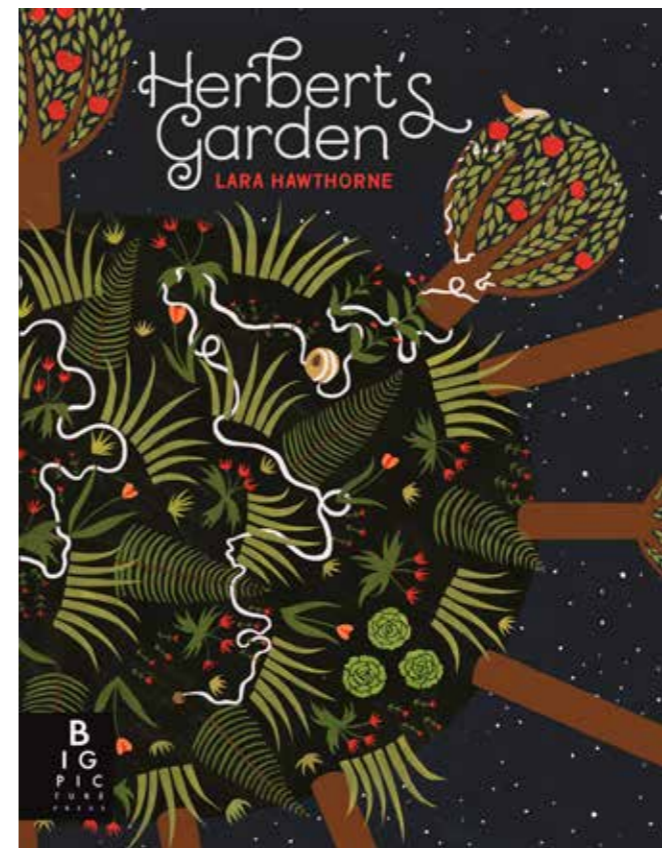

What will you find when you explore these small worlds? Prepare to be surprised by the variety of life on each page of this gorgeous lift-the-flap book. A fascinating exploration of the life and cycles in nature's small worlds.

Camilla de la Bedoyere has an academic background in zoology and has written more than 200 books for children and adults, many of which explore the natural world. She has also worked as a journalist, editing a children's page in a national newspaper, and is a specialist reading teacher. She lives in London with her family and is a Fellow of the Zoological Society of London.

Lara Hawthorne graduated from Falmouth University in 2013. Her first picture book, Herb, was published in 2014 and she was selected to illustrate Carol Ann Duffy's The King of Christmas (Picador, 2016). Inspired by nature, myths and legends, Lara creates wonderful small worlds with her distinct watercolour style. She currently lives in Bristol, UK.

Herbert's Garden

Lara Hawthorne

Pub date: 01 Oct 20
ISBN: 9781787417731
Pub price: £7.99

Genre: Picture book
Format: Paperback
H x W: 280 x 216mm
Extent: 32pp

A delightful story about appreciating the beauty in nature and discovering your creativity.

Each creature in the garden has something special to offer, but what about a slug? Slow, slimy and greedy, Herbert wishes he could weave shimmering webs like spiders, or create wonderful underground worlds like ants. But when his lonely nighttime wanderings through the garden take him up to the treetops, he and the other creatures are astonished at the beauty he has created. Spotting spreads plus helpful hints on how to look after the creatures in your own garden add to this non-fiction-inspired tale.

A stunningly illustrated story about recognising your talents and celebrating each individual, this is a beautiful picture book by the author and illustrator of The Night Flower.

Lara Hawthorne graduated from Falmouth University in 2013. Her first picture book, Herb, was published in 2014 and she was selected to illustrate Carol Ann Duffy's The King of Christmas (Picador, 2016). Moira Butterfield is an internationally successful author of children's non-fiction and picture books. Her work has featured on the UK school curriculum and been commended by the US Library of Congress. She aims to add originality and fun to all her projects, to get her young readers engaged in the amazing world around them. Moira lives in Somerset, UK.

FagoStudio is one girl and two boys, six hands and three brains, paper, pencils, computer mice, damaged keyboards and shelves, often too-tight deadlines and sometimes bugged software. Having worked together during their studies, the studio has taken form in a small workshop in Nantes, France.

WILD

Sam Usher

The second in a quartet of enchanting picture books in which a boy and his beloved grandad discover the wonder of the natural world.

Grandad and Boy look after a cat for a friend. Boy does lots of reading up about what cats like, but the cat is having none of it. And then it runs off into the wild, leading Grandad and Boy into a wild jungle fantasy adventure of their own.

Sam Usher graduated from the University of West England and his debut picture book Can You See Sassoon? was shortlisted for the Waterstones Prize and the Red House Children's Book Award. He is particularly admired for his technical drawing skill and prowess with watercolour. Also a talented pianist, when he's not holding a pen and wobbling at paper you'll find him perfecting a fiendishly difficult piece of Chopin.

A thought-provoking story featuring Stone Age friends Oof and Pib, who learn the importance of friendship, forgiveness and being able to express yourself!

Oof and Pib belong to an ancient tribe living in the Stone Age. They are the best of friends, although it's pretty hard to communicate when the only word you know is your own name. But when Oof starts to expand her language skills and becomes the hero of the tribe, Pib feels so jealous he does something that threatens his friendship with Oof forever. Can Pib come up with a word to make everything all right?

A funny and offbeat story, brimming with Duncan Beedie's trademark humour and conveying an important message about self-expression and forgiveness.

Duncan Beedie has been doodling and drawing since way back in the early 1980s, lying on the living-room floor, grasping a felt tip in his clammy little fist. He began his career animating children's TV before branching into design for websites, games and apps. These days he's a freelance illustrator based in Bristol, grasping a fancy digital stylus in his clammy fist instead, although he no longer lies on the floor to draw. He has a desk in a studio that overlooks the city. It's much more accommodating than nylon shag pile.

A vivid and contemporary retelling of the Greek myths through comic strips and information spreads.

The Greek myths are some of the oldest and most famous stories in the world. This striking new comic book collection is the perfect introduction to the world of the gods – containing six tales full of love, loss, greed, envy and bravery. From the mighty Zeus to Pandora and her little box of horrors, James Davies' retelling of the Greek myths will breathe new life into these classic stories.

James Davies is an illustrator and author from Wales, now living in Bristol. He has recently returned to illustration with a uniquely bold graphic style, influenced by old cartoons and retro picture books, and is the author and illustrator of the bestselling Meet the... series. His first picture book, Long Dog, was published in 2018. James's favourite food group is carbs and his worst enemy is a bald chihuahua.

The newest addition in the Ology World series, brought to the attention of Templar – publishers of rare and unusual books – is GHOSTOLOGY.

In 1975, under a bed in an old house in Tarrytown, New York, an unearthly tome entitled Ghostology was discovered, wrapped in a substance later found to be ectoplasm. It is the life's work and study of ghostologist Lucinda Curtle, who mysteriously passed to the 'other side' during a seance. After her death, Ghostology seemingly became haunted by the ghost of Lucinda herself, who now wants to keep the secrets of the dead A SECRET.

Now published, ghostwritten by Dugald Steer, the world itself can decide if Ghostology – purporting to tell the truth about ghosts – was solid fact or insubstantial fiction.

Dugald Steer was born in 1965 and grew up in Surrey, where his love of books and reading led him to study English Literature and Philosophy at Bristol. Several jobs later Dugald began working at Templar Publishing, where he worked his way up to Senior Editor, writing and editing many books in house. He has written more than 100 books for Templar and, after going freelance to concentrate on writing, he authored the first eight books in their hugely successful 'Ology series. Dugald lives near Barcelona in Spain with his wife Ana and his two children.

More than 18 million Ologies have been sold worldwide.

In this sequel to I Really Want to Win and I Really Want the Cake, a little girl learns big lessons about managing anger.

"Sometimes I find it really tough to make sure I'm not in a huff because there's simply so much stuff that makes me want to yell."

We all get angry once in a while, but it can be hard to know what to do when we feel this way. The determined heroine of I Really Want the Cake is back with a new conundrum. What should she do when she REALLY wants to shout?

Simon Philip was born in Chichester in 1988 and has lived there ever since. After studying history at Exeter University, he decided to become a primary-school teacher. Teaching rekindled his love of children's books, so much so that he decided to have a go at writing his own. He is the author of I Don't Know What to Call My Cat, You Must Bring a Hat and the Waterstones Prize shortlisted I Really Want the Cake.

Lucia Gaggiotti is a London and Italy-based illustrator and graphic designer. She graduated from NABA (New Academy of Art) in Milan with a BA in graphic design and a specialisation of illustration. She moved to London in 2005 and has been working freelance since then for many clients including Carluccio's, Jamie Oliver, Pizza Express and M&S. She is the illustrator of the Waterstones Prize shortlisted I Really want the Cake.

What did your Guinea pig's great great great great great grand parent look like? Palaeontologist Dr Dean Lomax takes a look at seven favourite pets and, using fossil clues, reveals their prehistoric animal ancestors.

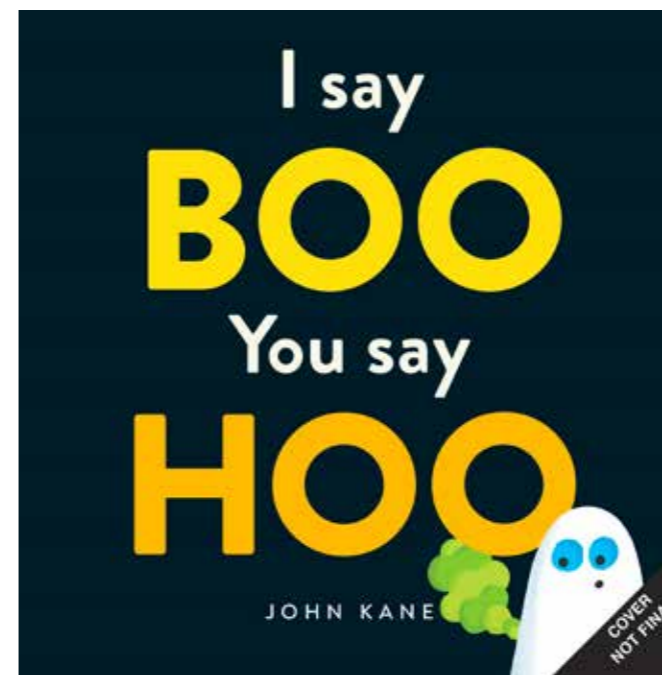

We take a close look at our pets, from guinea pigs to cats to horses, and – as if they were furry time machines – use fossil facts to trace them back to their prehistoric animal ancestors, with bright artwork, bags of humour and plenty of facts for readers to get their teeth into. Written by real palaeontologist and Ichthyosaur expert Dr Dean R Lomax.

Internationally recognised award-winning palaeontologist, presenter and author, Dean Lomax has travelled the globe excavating dinosaurs, and has described several new species of prehistoric reptile along the way. A Visiting Scientist at The University of Manchester, UK, Dean is passionate about communicating palaeontology and has presented on TV, including ITV's Dinosaur Britain. Author of several books, scientific papers and articles, Dean has a gold medal for excellence in science and he is also the patron of the UK Association of Fossil Hunters (UKAFH)

From Astronauts and Knights to Vampires and Dragons, Mike has a love for working with imagination and narrative. He has worked with publishers such as Bloomsbury, Scholastic, Orion, OUP and many more. Mike has a Master's Degree in Fine Art from the University of Aberystwyth.

A second gloriously funny call-and-response picture book from the author of I Say Ooh You Say Aah.

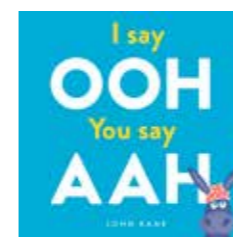

"There's something I need you to help me with. When I say BOO, you say HOO. Are you ready?"

Boo is little ghost who lives in a haunted house – and he is afraid of the dark.

In I Say Boo, You Say Hoo, readers must help tell the story from a series of hilarious verbal and visual cues. This is a wonderful book for sharing with a single child or in a group... and it's a little bit stinky. Be prepared for riotous laughter at story time!

When John Kane was younger, he liked to make up stories for his little sister. Jimmy and Bear, who appeared in them, are still remembered to this day. John lives in Dublin, but has also lived in Australia, where he set up Australia's number-one independent advertising agency. I Say Ooh You Say Aah, his first book, has won the English Picture Book Awards 4-7 category; won the Children's and Teen Choice Award in the US; and was shortlisted for the Irish Book Awards Children's Book of the Year.

The Incredible Pop-Up Maze

Andy Mansfield

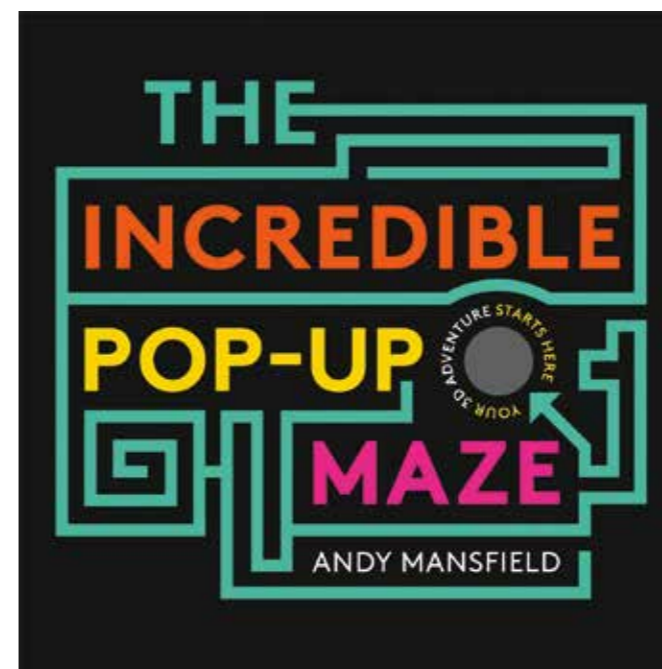

A mind-boggling 3D maze adventure awaits you in this spectacular paper creation!

Paper engineer Andy Mansfield pushes the boundaries of pop-ups as we know them in this extraordinary new book.

There's only one way into The Incredible Pop-Up Maze - through the hole in the cover. Journey through six 3D labyrinths, each one trickier than the last. Find your way along suspended spiralling pathways, scale the steps of a precarious pop-up labyrinth and follow the routes under and over flaps. The final mind-boggling maze is the hardest of all, because the routes keep changing. You might have to move the paths to find the way out of the book.

WARNING! Few questers have made it out.

Andy Mansfield has been a graphic designer and paper engineer for over 20 years. Since working for pre-eminent paper engineer Ron van der Meer, he has helped Templar Publishing develop over 50 pop-up books, including the hugely successful pop-up Peter Pan sound book, the critically acclaimed How the World Works series, the Super Science series, Follow the Star and the award-winning Fish Food.

The ultimate guide to spotting and avoiding monsters with artwork from Jonny Duddle.

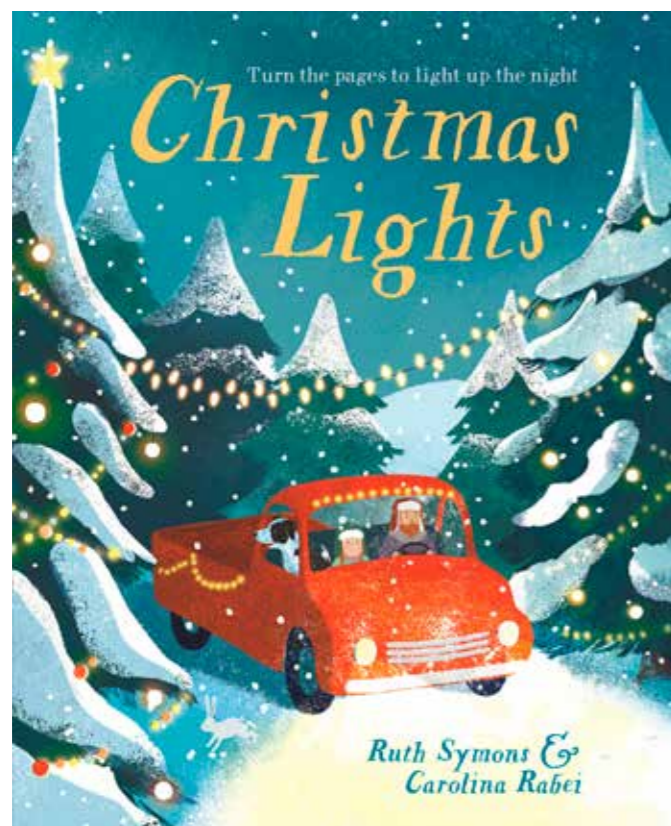

Do you dare delve into the freakishly funny Monstrous Book of Monsters where nothing is as it seems? Dr Thomas Jelly has packed his notebook with nauseating novelties and foul facts to teach readers how to avoid monsters, to spot them in the news or on the street and give us all a peek inside their dangerous (and smelly) world. At the end, readers learn that Dr Jelly has fallen foul of the infamous book monster - the readers themselves will be lucky to escape the same fate.

Libby Hamilton has written a variety of children's books including Templar's best-selling Peter Pan, the hilarious Monstrous Book of Monsters and, most recently, the enchanting How to Find a Fairy Tale.

Jonny Duddle overheard the story of his first book The Pirate Cruncher while sailing on a square-rigger. Since then he has written even stranger tales including The Pirates of Scurvy Sands, The Pirates Next Door, Gigantosaurus and The King of Space. The Pirates Next Door won the Waterstones Prize in 2012 and was shortlisted for the Roald Dahl Funny Prize. Now in danger of becoming a landlubber, Jonny lives in Wales with his wife, Jane, and their daughters, Daisy and Rosie.

A twinkling Christmas storybook, where the pictures move as you turn the pages...

Join one little girl and her father on their drive home for Christmas. Lift the flaps and spin the wheels to watch stars shoot past and fairy lights twinkle. With a lyrical, repetitive text and beautiful art by The Ride-by-Nights illustrator Carolina Rabei, this book will capture the hearts of the whole family.

Ever since she was very small, Carolina has loved drawing. She has dedicated eight years of her life to the study of fine art, attaining a BA in Graphic Design in Moldova and then achieving a distinction in Children's Book Illustration at the prestigious Cambridge School of Art in 2015. Carolina's stunning first picture book, Snow, was nominated for the Kate Greenaway Medal. Carolina loves working on a diverse range of projects and her artwork reveals a unique mix of practices, as she likes to explore the use of traditional as well as digital techniques in her illustrations.

Kate Greenaway Award-winning illustrator Grahame Baker-Smith's second non-fiction picture book, following The Rhythm of the Rain. Wild Is the Wind follows the extraordinary path of the wind in its many guises across the world, as witnessed by a migrating swift.

Cassi watches a little swift dive and swoop in the still air. In the rising sun the world seems to be holding its breath. Then a small breeze stirs the leaves in the trees, and as the wind grows bolder, a whiff of danger sends small creatures running for cover. Across the ocean, the wind awakes with a fury, whipping the waves, cresting each one with wild, white horses. And further on, around the still eye of a hurricane, clouds are carved into a great spiral, howling with stormy power. All this is witnessed by the swift as it finally comes to nest on the other side of the world where the great wind has abated.

Grahame Baker-Smith has worked in illustration for twenty years and in 2011 won the Greenaway Medal for his inspiring tale of fatherhood, FARTHER. He has also illustrated Pinocchio for the Folio Society.

An exquisitely illustrated retelling of the Hans Christian Andersen story, The Fir Tree

The Fir Tree grows in a forest far away from the bustle of the town. It is a beautiful place, but he dreams of the excitement of the world beyond. His friend the Robin tells him stories of the places she has seen, and the forest animals dress him up with berries and leaves, but he is still not happy. One day he is cut down and taken away to be a beautiful Christmas tree in the middle of town. He thinks his dreams have come true, but what will happen when his decorations are put away?

A lyrical story of friendship and new life with an ultimately uplifting ending. Jameson's pre-Raphaelite-inspired illustrations make this a Christmas picture book of great beauty.

Jason Jameson is co-founder and creative director of Unanico Group, an award-winning media company. Jason studied at the prestigious Royal College of Art, graduating with an Animation Masters, and has over 15 years of experience in concept and character development, design and animation direction. Jason wrote and directed Unanico Studios' award-winning stereoscopic 3D CGI animated short film One Night In Hell, and is co-writing and co-directing its animated feature spin-off. Jason and the team provided all the animation for Seasons 1 and 2 of Three Stones Media's live-action/animation mix series Apple Tree House, commissioned by CBeebies. Jason is the lead talent of Unanico Studios. He is currently working on a short film of The Robin and The Fir Tree.

The final titles in The House With a Clock in Its Walls series.

John Bellairs (1938–91) was an award-winning American author of many gothic mystery novels for children and young adults, including The House With a Clock in Its Walls, which received both the New York Times Outstanding Book of the Year Award and the American Library Association Children's Books of International Interest Award, The Lamp from the Warlock's Tomb, which won the Edgar Award and The Spectre from the Magician's Museum, which won the New York Public Library 'Best Books for the Teen Age' Award.

Brad Strickland has written more than 85 published books, including entries in the Lewis Barnavelt and Johnny Dixon series, following the death of the original series creator, John Bellairs. He is a Professor Emeritus of English and lives in Georgia, USA, with his wife, Barbara.

Cookie! (Book 2): Cookie and the Most Annoying Girl in the World

Konnie Huq

In her second brilliantly funny story, science-mad Cookie is ready to save the planet!

Cookie, Keziah and Jake are best mates and life is good. Cookie's birthday party is coming up and she has had the most fantastic idea for a Save the Planet party where everything is recyclable and no plastic is used. Before long, Cookie is buzzing with plans. But then disaster strikes - Suzie Ashby totally swipes Cookie's idea and sends out invitations for her own Save the Planet birthday party. Worse still, Suzie seems to think Cookie is her new best friend! Grrrr! Suzie is officially the most annoying girl in the world!

As the longest serving female Blue Peter presenter, from 1997 to 2008, Konnie Huq is no stranger to the middle-grade market. She is an ambassador for the Prince's Trust and the British Asian Trust. Cookie is inspired by Konnie's own London Bangladeshi background, her love of science and her unashamed nerdiness!

Stephanie Burgis

From the author of The Dragon with a Chocolate Heart, this is a witty and irreverent adventure set in Jane Austen times – with magic!

Kat Stephenson has just discovered that she's inherited her mother's magical talents, and despite her Step mama's stern objections, she's determined to learn how to use them.

But with her eldest sister Elissa's intended fiancé, the sinister Sir Neville, showing a dangerous interest in Kat's magical potential; her other sister, Angeline, wreaking romantic havoc with her own witchcraft; and a highwayman lurking in the forest, even Kat's reckless heroism will be tested to the upmost.

If she can learn to control her new powers, will Kat be able to rescue her family and win her sisters their true love?

If Roald Dahl had written A Monster Calls...

Everyone is always shouting at Gus to stop leaning back in his chair – but does he care? No way! Then sure enough, the chair falls, he cracks his head and has to spend all summer in bed. Out of the crack escape his memories, dreams and imagination... and a beautiful little butterfly guide. Gus must follow the butterfly to recapture all he's lost, including that locked box he doesn't seem to want to touch...

Together they remember fish fingers, snapping bubble wrap, cracked pink soap and the leaky tap; they go wild, stomping around in the joy of imagination and happy dreams – but they can't go any further if Gus won't gather all of his memories. His butterfly will die unless Gus is ready to hear about his mum...

A delightful, moving exploration of grief and the joy that makes us human.

Laura Dockrill is a performance poet and novelist whose inventive and vibrant approach to life is reflected in the vividly imagined worlds she creates. Laura finds creativity in words – from poetry to novels, and scripts to song lyrics. She is author of the Carnegie Medal-nominated YA novel Lorali, as well as the Darcy Burdock series (Random House) for younger readers, which was also nominated for the Carnegie Medal and shortlisted for the Waterstones Children's Book Prize in 2014, and My Mum Is Growing Down (Faber and Faber). Laura has appeared on Blue Peter and CBeebies and is a frequent poet performer at festivals such as Glastonbury, Hay, Edinburgh and Latitude. She lives in London. You can follow her on Twitter @ LauraDockrill

Gwen was brought up in Wales. Originally she had her heart set on becoming a naturalist as she loved studying insects and drawing them. Her trips abroad when she was young are associated with finding new and strange-looking creatures! After school she migrated north to Edinburgh to study art, where she graduated with a First in illustration and was awarded the Helen A. Rose Bequest for art. Gwen's first picture book, Guess What I Found in Dragon Wood (text by Tim Knapman) was published by Puffin.

Meet Mark Anchovy: pizza delivery boy and private detective on his second mission – to Russia.

Colin Kingsley is a pizza delivery boy with a twist – he's actually an aspiring private detective.

The outlook is bleak for Colin Kingsley, aka Mark Anchovy, pizza detective. He's been expelled from school for putting crusty Mr Hogstein in hospital. He's been fired from his job at Caesar Pizza by his own parents. And he's been sent to Moscow to live with mean Uncle Padge for a whole month, as punishment.

Weirdly, his other employers, the elite Golden Spatula League, are actually really happy about this. It means Colin can trail a mysterious shipment of vorshmack – a local appetiser of ground meat, onions and of, course, anchovies – which may or may not be connected to a batch of stolen diamonds.

William Goldsmith is a British writer and illustrator. Published by Jonathan Cape, his graphic novels Vignettes of Ystov and The Bind were nominated for a Newton First Book Award and British Book Design Award respectively. His illustration clients include the Independent, the Goethe Institut, the Royal Opera House and the Turner Prize-winning collective Assemble. Cookie and the Most Annoying Boy in the World

Pub price: £6.99

A hilarious and anarchic collection of classic bedtime stories for young readers, all utterly updated for a new generation.

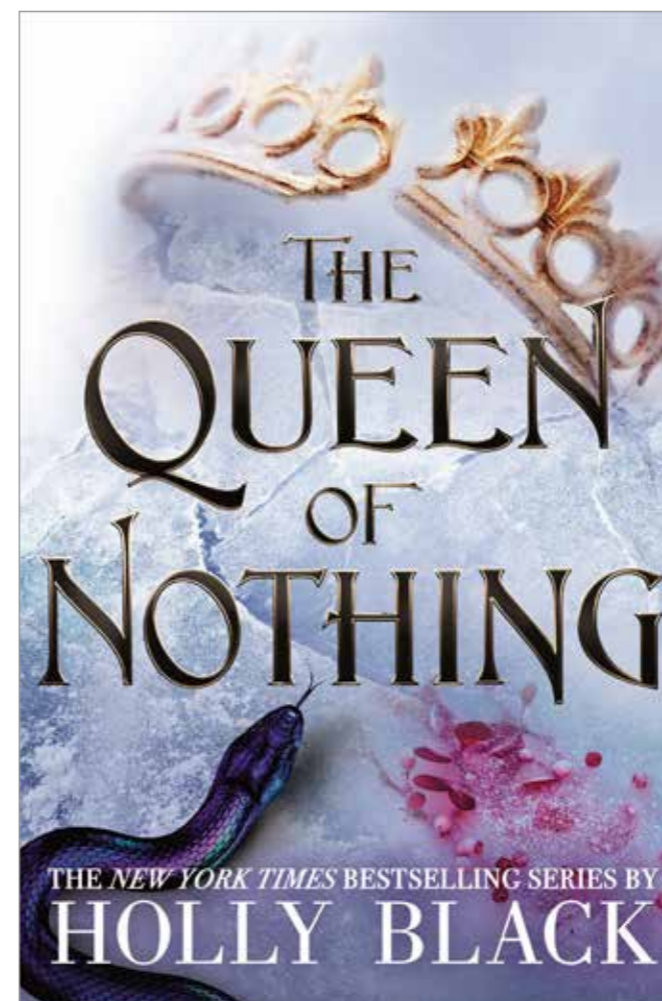

Meet Trumpletiltskin, a vain and gold-obsessed little man who will stop at nothing to become richer and richer. There's Sleeping Brainy, the princess whose only dream is to become Chancellor of the Exchequer, and the Gingerbread Kid, who escapes persecution in his home country but struggles to fit in in his new one. Packed with stories about boys who aren't afraid to cry and rhymes about girls who refuse to kiss frogs, this book shakes up dusty, old-fashioned (and, to be honest, rather sexist) bedtime stories and totally reinvents them for the twenty-first century. From fake news to female footballers, environmental pollution to equal pay, nothing is off limits in this anthology of laugh-out-loud fairy tales with thoroughly modern morals

As the longest-serving female Blue Peter presenter (1997-2008), Konnie Huq is no stranger to the middle-grade market. She is currently an ambassador for the Princes' Trust and the British Asian Trust. James Kay is a writer and full-time human who lives in London. His hobbies include eating and breathing. At school he was voted 'least likely to become Prime Minister' and he's on course for this to be the case.

Rikin Parekh studied art at Camberwell College of Arts and the University of Westminster. He has since worked designing monsters for the film industry and selling books for a national chain. He currently works with Year Fives in a London primary school, inspiring children to draw their own monsters.

STAGS 3: FOXES

M.A. Bennett

A third compelling step into the darkly decadent world of STAGS

A twisting thriller for fans of One of Us Is Lying and Pretty Little Liars.

When Greer is discharged from hospital a week before Christmas, she, Shafeen and Nel decide to investigate the De Warlencourt London residence, where they discover that the Dark Order of the Grand Stag could have infiltrated right to the heart of the British government. Meanwhile Ty, under her codename mrs_de_warlencourt, sends dispatches from Longcross. But when a Boxing Day Hunt is planned at Longcross, Greer, Shafeen and Nel are fearful for Ty's safety. Will they reach Ty in time – or will history horribly repeat itself..?

M. A. Bennett is half Venetian and was born in Manchester, England, and raised in the Yorkshire Dales. She is a history graduate of Oxford University and the University of Venice, where she specialised in the study of Shakespeare's plays as a historical source. After university she studied art and has since worked as an illustrator, an actress and a film reviewer. She also designed tour visuals for rock bands, including U2 and the Rolling Stones. She was married on the Grand Canal in Venice and lives in north London with her husband, son and daughter. Her first YA novel, S.T.A.G.S., was published in 2017 and was shortlisted for the YA BOOK PRIZE 2018, won the Warwickshire Secondary Book Award 2019 and Gold in the Sussex Coast Schools Amazing Book Award 2019, both voted by students, and won the Great Reads 'Most Read' 2018 Senior Award. D.O.G.S., the second from the world of STAGS, followed in 2019. Follow her at @MABennettAuthor on Twitter and at @mabennettauthor on Instagram.

Special Forces Cadets 5: Hijack

Chris Ryan

Tough enough? Smart enough? Max will require all his skills just to stay alive as a Special Forces Cadet...

From the bestselling author of Strike Back, Chris Ryan returns with the next instalment in this action-packed series.

The Falkland Islands, South Atlantic Ocean. Intelligence has been received that Argentina is plotting to invade, but is it reliable?

The Special Forces Cadets are sent in to investigate, disguised as nature watchers, but when they split up to conduct essential research, two of them are captured and imprisoned. Their lives are in grave danger, but with the main operation at a crucial stage, the others are under orders to leave their friends to their fate.

Can the cadets prevent a war and make it out alive?

Chris Ryan was born in Newcastle. In 1984 he joined 22 SAS. After completing the year-long Alpine Guides Course, he was the troop guide for B Squadron Mountain Troop. He completed three tours with the anti-terrorist team, serving as an assaulter, sniper and finally Sniper Team Commander. Chris was part of the SAS eight-man team chosen for the famous Bravo Two Zero mission during the 1991 Gulf War. He was the only member of the unit to escape from Iraq, where three of his colleagues were killed and four captured, for which he was awarded the Military Medal. Chris wrote about his experiences in his book The One That Got Away, which became an immediate bestseller. Since then he has written over fifty books and presented a number of very successful TV programmes.

Way of the Argosi

Sebastien de Castell

The Alchemist meets The Three Musketeers – with card tricks.

Ferius Parfax has a simple plan: kill every last inhabitant of the spell-gifted nation that destroyed her people, starting with the man who murdered her parents. Killing mages is a difficult business, of course, so Ferius undertakes to study the ways of the Argosi: the loosely knit tribe of tricksters known for getting the better of even the most powerful of spellcasters. But the Argosi have a price for their teachings, and by the time Ferius learns what it is, it may be too late.

Perfect for fans of The Dark Tower, Firefly, Guardians of the Galaxy, Terry Pratchett, Ben Aaronovitch and Jim Butcher.

Sebastien de Castell had just finished a degree in archaeology when he started work on his first dig. Four hours later he realised how much he actually hated archaeology and left to pursue a very focused career as a musician, ombudsman, interaction designer, fight choreographer, teacher, project manager, actor and product strategist. His only defence against the charge of unbridled dilettantism is that he genuinely likes doing these things and that, in one way or another, each of these fields plays a role in his writing. He sternly resists the accusation of being a Renaissance man in the hopes that more people will label him that way. Sebastien lives in Vancouver with his lovely wife and two belligerent cats. Clariel, Sabriel, Lirael, Abhorsen & Goldenhand

Garth Nix

'A fantasy that reads like realism. Here is a world with the same solidity and four-dimensional authority as our own, created with invention, clarity and intelligence' PHILIP PULLMAN

Enter into the Old Kingdom – a place of free magic, necromancers and ancient spirits bound to elemental forces. The Abhorsen's destiny is to move between the realms, sworn to protect the living from the troublesome dead, no matter the personal cost...

These rich, absorbing and critically acclaimed teen YA fantasy novels are a phenomenon, and the perfect discovery for Game of Thrones fans. Sales of Garth Nix's titles have exceeded over 6 million copies worldwide.

All five Old Kingdom novels will be reissued in October on Hot Key, the first time the entire series has been housed under one roof. A new novel in the series, Terciell and Elinor, will be published in autumn 2021. (Don't worry, we have plans in place to make sure anyone with the original hardbacks won't be disappointed from a collecting point of view).

Garth Nix was born in 1963 in Melbourne, Australia. A full-time writer since 2001, he has worked as a literary agent, marketing consultant, book editor, book publicist, book sales representative, bookseller, and as a part-time soldier in the Australian Army Reserve. Garth's books include the award-winning Old Kingdom fantasy novels, starting with Sabriel. He has also written the science-fiction novels Shade's Children and A Confusion of Princes. His fantasy novels for children include The Ragwitch; the six books of The Seventh Tower sequence; The Keys to the Kingdom series; and with Sean Williams, the Troubletwisters books and Spirit Animals: Blood Ties.

More than six million copies of Garth's books have been sold around the world, his books have appeared on the bestseller lists of the New York Times, Publishers Weekly and the Guardian, and his work has been translated into 40 languages. He lives in Sydney, Australia. Follow Garth on twitter at @garthnix or at www.garthnix.com

Poisoned Jennifer Donnelly

Carnegie medal-winning Jennifer Donnelly gives a feminist makeover to the fairy tale of Snow White.

Snow White's stepmother wanted to get rid of the beautiful stepdaughter who was challenging her title of 'most beautiful' – by any means necessary. Was Snow White poisoned? What happens to the poisoned, and the poisoner?

Jennifer Donnelly turns her feminist eye to this most delicious of fairy tales and shows Snow White as she's never been seen before.

Jennifer's A Gathering Light, set against the backdrop of an infamous murder in the Adirondacks of 1906 won the Carnegie Medal, the Los Angeles Times Book Prize, the Borders Original Voices Award and was named a Printz Honor book.
